

Pres Montoya

PRES MONTOYA was born and raised in Weld County and was the first in his family to graduate from college. Montoya has been involved in education for many years having served on the Greeley-Evans School Board for eight years before being appointed by Governor Owens to serve four years on the Colorado Commission of Higher Education. He is the Co-Founder of the Greeley Dream Team and the Cumbres Program at the University of Northern Colorado, which has helped over 300 Latino students graduate with a degree in education. Currently, he is on the Board of Directors for Jobs of Hope, an organization that finds jobs for people who have been in gangs, in trouble with the law or dropped out of school. Montoya is a local Real Estate agent and has been in the business for over 30 years in northern Colorado.
